Burridge Awarded
The Philadelphia Water Color
Society Crest Medal Award
for Achievement in the Arts

Robert Burridge leads an exciting and colorful artistic career with an impressive resume of painting credits to his name. The Los Angeles Times acclaimed Burridge as “one of California’s top ten emerging artists,” the Philadelphia Water Color Society awarded him their Crest Medal for achievement in the arts – previously won by Pablo Picasso, Georgia O’Keeffe and N.C. Wyeth.

Shown here, his “Good Life” series include images that are uplifting, fun and “all that is good.” His work has appeared on Starbucks Coffee mugs, Williams-Sonoma fine art prints, Pearl Vodka bottles, 5-foot tapestries, and 12 paintings were featured in the cult movie, “Dean Quixote.”
